

JOHN LYON'S CHARITY

Neil Enright MA (Oxon), MBA, NPQH, FRSA

Neil has been Headmaster of Queen Elizabeth's School since September 2011, where he previously served as Deputy Headmaster, Assistant Headmaster, Head of Year, and Head of Geography. QES has consistently been named in the national press in recent years as the country's top state school for A Level and GCSE results. Neil attended The John Lyon School in Harrow from 1989 to 1996, where he was Deputy Head Boy, then completed his undergraduate degree at Oxford University and a PGCE at London's Institute of Education.

Neil was awarded his National Professional Qualification for Headship in 2007 and an MBA in 2010. He is Deputy Chairman of Governors at The John Lyon School, and his other current voluntary roles include being a governor of Longfield Primary School in Harrow and of St Albans High School for Girls, in addition to being a trustee of John Lyon's Foundation and of the Ashmole Academy Trust.
